

Some

I've got some fantastic things in my room:

I've got some posters on the wall.

I've got some books on my shelf.

I've got some CD-ROMs for my computer.

I've got some CDs on my CD-player.

I've got some computer games.

I've got some computer magazines.

I've got some old records.

in positive statements

Any

What about your room?

Have you got any posters on the wall?

Have you got any books on the shelf?

Have you got any CD-ROMs for your computer?

Have you got any CDs on your CD-player?.

Have you got any good computer games?

Have you got any interesting computer magazines?

Have you got any good records?

in questions

Now over to you:

Ask your friend/neighbour:

Have you got any .....

(chairs, books, book shelves, rulers, rubbers, copybooks, magazines, CDs, posters, DVDs, cassettes, biros, pencils, pens, playing cards, postcards, etc.)

He/she answers:

Yes, I have got some .....

No, I haven't got any....

I've got some posters on the wall.

I've got some books on my shelf.

I've got some CD-ROMs for my computer.

I've got some CDs on my CD-player.

I've got some computer games.

I've got some computer magazines.

I've got some old records.

in positive statements

I have't got any posters on the wall.

I have't got any books on the shelf.

I have't got any CD-ROMs for your computer.

I have't got any CDs on your CD-player.

I have't got any good computer games.

I have't got any interesting computer magazines.

I have't got any good records.

in negative statements