

Seppi's Visit to London

Seppi spends a week in London with his English exchange pupil Mike. Here is the conversation which/that/X (1) they have about a walk around London:

Seppi: I'd like to visit some sights in London. What would you recommend visiting?

Mike: OK, let's go for a walk around London. What are the sights which/that/X (2) you would like to see most?

Seppi: I'd like to see the famous sights which/that/X (3) I learned about in my English lessons. But I have forgotten the names. We learned about a prison which/that (4) shows you the history of a murderer who/[that] (5) killed many women at night-time.

Mike: Ah, that's the London Dungeon and the man whose (6) name you've forgotten is Jack the Ripper. Well, we don't really know whether he is the man who/that (7) killed all these women. The London Dungeon offers you three different rides which/that/X (8) you can choose from..

Seppi: Yes, I know. I'd like to take the ride which/that (10) takes me to the underworld of Jack the Ripper. This is the ride which/that/X (11) I would like most and which/that (12) makes me scared.

Mike: Yes, it's very scary. What is another sight which/that/X (13) you'd like to see?

Seppi: What's the name of the monument which/that (14) reminds us of the Great Fire of London?

Mike: Well, people just call it "the Monument" with a capital M. It's funny, isn't it?

Seppi: Yes, it is, because there are so many other monuments which/that (15) make you think of historical events and famous people. What's the name of the architect who/that (16) designed many buildings after the Great Fire?

Mike: Christopher Wren. We can look at some buildings which/that/X (17)

Christopher Wren designed. The most famous building which/that/X (18) he designed is St. Paul's Cathedral.

Seppi: Yes, let's go there. Our English teacher told us something that/X (19) I have forgotten. I think about a funny gallery high up in the cathedral....

Mike: Oh yes, that's probably the whispering gallery. If you whisper at one side of the gallery, your friend can hear everything that/X (20) you said on the other side of the gallery.

Seppi: Yes, that's what the teacher told us. He also told us about a park where (21) you can see a memorial to Princess Diana.

Mike: That's the Hyde Park. We can go there for a run which/that/X (22) you'll never forget. Yes, and at one corner you can listen to people who/[that] (23) stand on boxes and give speeches on crazy topics.

Seppi: Well, Mike, I think we have got enough sights which/that/X (24) we can look at. Let's start right away.

Now Mike and Seppi are walking around London. Right now they're at the southern end of Westminster Bridge and are walking across..

Seppi: What's the name of the bridge which/that/X (25) we are just crossing?

Mike: It's called Westminster Bridge. It's the bridge which/that (26) connects South London with Central London. The building which/that/X (27) you can see at the end of the bridge is a famous clock tower.

Seppi: Oh yes, that's Big Ben, isn't it?

Mike: Not quite. Big Ben is the name of the clock which/that (28) hangs in the tower. It's the clock whose (29) sound you can hear on TV and on the radio.

Seppi: And the big buildings which/that (30) are next to Big Ben are the Houses of Parliament, aren't they? I remember a picture which/that (31) was in my English book.

Mike: Yes, these are the Houses of Parliament. But let's go to the London Eye.

Seppi: What's the London Eye?

Mike: The London Eye is a big wheel which/that ⁽³²⁾ can carry several hundred people. From the top you've got the best view of London.

Seppi: Well, I guess, we've seen enough today. Let's go home. I'm tired now.
