

Sports activities in my family and by my friends

Put in prepositions of time (for, since, in) and place (at, in, from, to) and conjunctions (since, when)

I've got a new friend at ⁽¹⁾ school. His name is Kevin, and he sits next to ⁽²⁾ me in ⁽³⁾ the classroom. His family moved from ⁽⁴⁾ Liverpool to ⁽⁵⁾ Salzburg in ⁽⁶⁾ July. So he has lived here since ⁽⁷⁾ July. It's January now; so he has lived here for ⁽⁸⁾ six months. He came to ⁽⁹⁾ our school in ⁽¹⁰⁾ September; so he has been my classmate for ⁽¹¹⁾ five months. We started to play table tennis together in ⁽¹²⁾ October; so we have played together since ⁽¹³⁾ October, i. e. we have played together for ⁽¹⁴⁾ four months. Unfortunately, he had an accident last week; so we haven't played for ⁽¹⁵⁾ a week. He has been in ⁽¹⁶⁾ hospital now for ⁽¹⁷⁾ a week, but he will stay in ⁽¹⁸⁾ hospital for ⁽¹⁹⁾ another week.

My father has played table tennis since ⁽²⁰⁾ he started high school; so he's better than I am. I'm sure that I'll beat him if I practice hard. Of course, he has played for ⁽²¹⁾ thirty years and I have only played for ⁽²²⁾ half a year; but my reactions are quick and I can run fast. So sooner or later I'll beat him. My mum doesn't play table tennis. She has never played table tennis. But she has played lawn tennis since ⁽²³⁾ she joined a tennis club in ⁽²⁴⁾ 2016. So she has played for ⁽²⁵⁾ six years. I also play lawn tennis, but I can't beat her yet. Just wait for ⁽²⁶⁾ a year, and I'll beat her, too.

I also play football; I'm good enough to play in/for ⁽²⁷⁾ the school team. I've played in/for ⁽²⁸⁾ the school team for ⁽²⁹⁾ two years now, that means I have played since ⁽³⁰⁾ 2021

In summer I love swimming. I learned to swim when ⁽³¹⁾ I was five years old. So I have been a swimmer since ⁽³²⁾ I was five years old. I'm twelve now: so I've been a swimmer for ⁽³³⁾ seven years.

My sister is a swimmer, too. She learned to swim when (34) she was four years old in (35) 2017. So she has been a swimmer since (36) 2017; so she has been a swimmer for (37) almost six years.

She also loves riding her bike. Well, she started with a tricycle when (38) she was three. So she has been a cyclist since (39) 2016; so she has been a cyclist for (40) seven years.

Aren't we a great family with many sports activities?
