

Robbery at Hanbury Hall

Put in the correct form of the Simple Past of “to be” (“was/wasn’t” or “were/weren’t”)

Last night there _____ a robbery at Hanbury hall.

In the morning the clock in the library _____ missing. Inspector Clue _____ the policeman from Scotland Yard. It _____ his job to find the robber. Lord and Lady Brown _____ the owners of Hanbury Hall and the missing clock. Lord Brown _____ very angry about the robbery. The clock _____ his grandmother’s favourite clock. It actually _____ a wedding present¹ from the Queen.

Inspector to Lady Brown: “Where _____ you at 9 p. m. last night?”

¹ Wedding present = Hochzeitsgeschenk

Lady Brown: "I _____ with my husband. We _____ in the living room."

Inspector: "_____ your son Henry with you?"

Lady Brown: "No, he _____. He _____ in his bedroom, I think."

Inspector to Henry: "_____ your parents with you last night at 9 p. m.?"

Henry Brown: " No, they _____. They _____ in the library, I think."

INSPECTOR: "You _____ in the library?"

Henry: "No, I _____. I _____ very tired."

Inspector: "Where _____ you at 9 o'clock last night?"

Mrs Black: "I _____ in the kitchen all evening."

Inspector: Where _____ you at 9 o'clock last evening, Mr White?"

Mr White: "I _____ in the Hall."

Inspector: "_____ you alone?"

Mr White: "No, I _____. I _____ with Miss Green."

Inspector : "_____ you in the library at 9 o'clock last night?"

Miss Green:"No, I _____. I _____ in the dining room."

Inspector: "You _____ in the dining room?"

Miss Green: "Yes.... Oh no, I _____ in the Hall with Mr White."